

The Central Michigan Volleyball team remains tied for first place in the MAC with Buffalo and Bowling Green with a conference record of 7-2. The Chippewas swept both matches against Western Michigan and Northern Illinois this weekend, proving that they are true contenders for the number one seed in the MAC volleyball tournament.

Junior outside hitter Natalia Rejment (Ray-ment) who tallied 20 kills and 18 digs this weekend believes that team chemistry and construction is the reason for their continued success this season.

SOT #1-

The Chippewas have had a different kill leader each game over their last 5 games which has been a major part of their success.

Central Michigan looks to continue their success against Buffalo to further their lead in the conference standings. Rejment believes if they just focus on themselves they should have a great couple of games against Buffalo.

SOT 2-

The Chippewas are looking to win the MAC regular season title for the first time since 2019. They continue their efforts at McGuirk arena Friday and Saturday at 6 and 4 pm respectively against Buffalo. The Chippewas need as much support as they can get so come out and support the volleyball team.
